Privacy Policy

Introduction

Welcome to the privacy policy of TechVentory. We are committed to protecting our users' personal data and respecting their right to privacy. This document details the types of data we collect, how we use and store them, and the rights users have regarding the data they provide.

Personal Data Collection and Use

TechVentory may collect the following personal data: name, email address, workplace information, and other contact details. These data are collected for service provision, billing, user support, and marketing purposes. Data collection methods include registration on our website, as well as the use of cookies and other tracking technologies.

Data Sharing and Disclosure

Personal data is only shared with third parties if necessary for providing our services, fulfilling legal requirements, or protecting our security. We require all third parties with whom we share your data to respect our privacy norms and ensure data security.

Data Security

TechVentory takes data protection seriously. We employ encryption and access control technologies to ensure data security. Our users also play a crucial role in data security; we ask that you use strong passwords and be cautious when sharing personal information.

User Rights

Every user has the right to access, correct, or delete their personal data provided. To exercise these rights, please contact us at the contact information provided below.

Cookies and Tracking Technologies

Our website uses cookies and other tracking technologies to improve user experience and analyze website traffic. Users can manage these technologies in their browser settings.

Privacy Policy Changes

We reserve the right to modify our privacy policy from time to time. Such changes will be communicated through our website.

Stripe Payment System Privacy Statement

TechVentory uses Stripe for processing secure online payments. When you make a payment on the TechVentory site, your personal and financial data are directly managed by Stripe, which implements security measures compliant with PCI DSS (Payment Card Industry Data Security Standard).

Data Collection and Use by Stripe

When you make a payment, Stripe collects information necessary for the payment transaction, including your name, credit card details, and the payment amount.

This information is used exclusively for processing the payment transaction and is not shared with third parties unless necessary for completing the transaction or fulfilling legal obligations.

TechVentory does not store credit card details on its servers. All financial information is directly handled within Stripe's secure system.

Security

Stripe is committed to ensuring the security of personal and financial data through the use of the latest security protocols and technologies.
